

Job Description

POSITION TITLE:	Energy Policy Specialist 06.1.2
DEPARTMENT:	Hydrocarbon Studies Unit
REPORTS TO:	Head HSU

JOB HIGHLIGHTS

To collect and study data and information related to the energy policies, institutions and regulations in consuming and producing countries and regions, assessing the impact of energy policies on expected oil supply/demand levels for the medium to long term.

PRINCIPAL RESPONSIBILITIES

1. Studies, analyses and reports on major trends in energy policies of major oil-consuming and producing countries and regions.
2. Carries out studies on the impact of major energy policy developments in particular environmental policies.
3. Examines the changing patterns of the geopolitics of energy and security of energy supply and demand in various regions of the world and how it affects Africa.
4. Coordinates the collection, processing and analyses of data required for conducting studies.
5. Carries out any other tasks assigned by the relevant superiors.

REQUIREMENTS

Qualifications: University degree in Economics, Engineering, or related Sciences.

Experience: minimum of five (5) years post qualification experience in related fields in an international/national or private Energy company, or government agency.

TRAINING SPECIALIZATIONS:

- Excellent knowledge of economic and energy policy analyses.
- Good knowledge of petroleum market development is desirable.

NB: Age range is from 35 to 55 years old.